In 2017, we worked together to create a community where everyone has an opportunity to thrive. We know poverty is holding back so many people across our region. Some 600,000 people are looking for that opportunity to thrive. With your support, we know we must help children, families and individuals living in poverty and struggling to meet their basic needs. Thanks to our collective efforts, United Way is helping lead or guide some of the most important work in our community.

Success By 6 is preparing children across the region for school, and the Cincinnati Preschool Promise is giving more than 1,000 additional children access to early childhood education. Partners for a Competitive Workforce is helping thousands of people obtain jobs that will help them on the road to self-sufficiency. The Child Poverty Collaborative’s goal is to help lift 5,000 families and 10,000 children out of poverty toward, and to, self-sufficiency in the next five years. And our key investments continue to help 140 impactful partner agencies dedicated to creating opportunity for 365,000 people across our region.

Through the annual campaign, together we raised more than $60 million for our community. Plus, thousands of people gave their time, talent and passion to provide more than 86,000 volunteer hours to create a better future for our region. We also continue to take our responsibility as a steward of your investments very seriously, again securing high marks from Charity Navigator and Guide Star.

Thank you for joining us in this work. We look forward to building on this energy across the region as we lead and partner with others to tackle some of the most important work ever to help local children and families in poverty.

Cordially,

Robert C. Reifsnyder
President

Julia W. Poston
Chair, Board of Directors

Rob Reifsnyder, president and CEO of United Way of Greater Cincinnati, retired in May 2018 after leading one of the area’s largest and most influential nonprofits for 17 years. Reifsnyder assumed the top leadership role at United Way of Greater Cincinnati in 2001 and grew the organization to its current ranking as the sixth largest United Way in the country with assets of $139 million and $65 million in annual revenue. Throughout his tenure United Way raised more than $1 billion to benefit individuals in need.

Under Reifsnyder’s leadership, United Way convened top leaders and area nonprofits to build community will around key regional issues, including the importance of investing in kindergarten readiness and reducing regional poverty. As a result, for over a decade United Way’s top investment has been in kindergarten readiness solutions, and in 2016, Reifsnyder championed United Way to serve as the trusted entity executing Cincinnati Preschool Promise – enabling thousands of additional Cincinnati children to attend quality preschool. Reifsnyder oversaw United Way’s role as a founding partner for the Child Poverty Collaborative, and most recently United Way has created the United for Opportunity Agenda to help families and individuals across the region move from poverty toward self-sufficiency.

“IT has been an honor to serve the Greater Cincinnati community for nearly two decades as the President of United Way of Greater Cincinnati,” said Reifsnyder. “This is an incredibly giving community, extremely engaged in finding new ways to help people improve their lives. While much work remains to be done, I am excited about the future of Greater Cincinnati and our United Way.”

Following a six-month nationwide search, United Way of Greater Cincinnati’s Board of Directors chose Michael Johnson, a seasoned nonprofit executive, as its next president & CEO. Prior to accepting this role, Michael has most recently served as president & CEO of Boys & Girls Club of Dane County in Madison, Wisconsin.

Michael is a proven difference maker, a longtime advocate for children and families and a successful leader with a solid track record of delivering impressive results in communities such as St. Louis, Chicago, Philadelphia and Madison.

“I accepted this opportunity because I grew up in public housing in Chicago, overcame not being able to read and write at college proficiency, and I understand firsthand the challenges that trap families in poverty and the impact it can have on a family, city and region,” Johnson said. “I am looking forward to calling Cincinnati home and working with United Way partners, volunteers and the private and public sectors to help unite our community to change lives and provide a clearer pathway to help move children and families out of poverty.”

STORIES FROM OUR COMMUNITY

ELIZABETH & MAE
FT. MITCHELL, KY
Mae was diagnosed with a rare developmental disorder. Her parents found transformative help at Redwood, which provides enriching educational, therapeutic, and vocational services. After spinal surgery, the staff helped her walk and run within just months. Mae’s parents say Redwood has given them a place to belong.

SAMUEL “SAMMY”
WESTWOOD, OH
Samuel’s mom calls him Sammy. They live in Westwood, OH. Sammy is going to a high-quality preschool with help from Cincinnati Preschool Promise.

WILLIAM
LAWRENCEBURG, IN
William is a regular at the United Way Agency Center in Lawrenceburg, IN. The office has become a resource for basic needs: phone calls, bus routes, and more. William says United Way is like his family.
Monique is a college graduate who was working hard as a mom with a full-time job. When she lost that job, her safety net was ripped away. Monique turned to Bethany House, which empowers homeless and at-risk families with solutions to achieve housing stability and long-term self-sufficiency. One month later, she had a new job. She and her kids were back on their feet.

Liz, from Newport, KY, adopted her niece Malia after she was born addicted to drugs. For help tackling infant drug rehabilitation, she turned to First Steps, which helps women break the cycle of addiction. Malia went from being told she may not walk, to running and thriving like any other child her age.

Larry is a veteran from Batavia, OH. You can often spot him at Clermont County Senior Services where the staff help him get to and from medical appointments and enjoy Meals on Wheels. He says the companionship and support of his fellow seniors keeps him coming back again and again.
